REPUBLIC OF INDIA · JUDICIAL AUTOMATION & TRIAGE SYSTEM

Official Case Intake & Priority Assessment Dossier

Autonomous multi-factor triage analysis: LLM feature extraction → CART Decision Tree priority classification → Constitutional justification under the Constitution of India.

Case Document: Evidence_06_Interview_Records_SIMULATED.pdf · Generated: 13 October 2026, 11:23

MEDIUM PRIORITY

I. Litigating Parties in the Dispute

Nisha Rao, Meera, Arun

II. Factual Synopsis & Plain-Language Summary

Nisha Rao, the mother, reported that her daughter Meera was last seen near the play area at 6:18 PM. Meera was not found and Nisha called for help. Arun, a person of interest, claims he did not take the child. The case involves a missing child, potential criminal activity, and the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution.

III. Case Classification & Deterministic Feature Vector

Legal Category
Excise/Tax

Case Type
Non-Violent

Injury Severity
No Injury

Vulnerability Tier
High

Influence Metric
High

Assessed Priority
Medium

IV. Constitutional Articles Applied & Fundamental Rights Engaged

Article 265
Primary

Tax Not to be Imposed Save by Authority of Law

Article 14
Primary

Equality Before Law

Article 19(1)(g)
Primary

Right to Practise Any Profession or Carry On Occupation, Trade or Business

Article 300A
Secondary

Right to Property

Article 301
Secondary

Freedom of Trade, Commerce and Intercourse

Article 21
Secondary

Protection of Life and Personal Liberty

V. Legal Summary & Statutory Obligation Analysis

Under Article 265, the State cannot levy or collect tax without the authority of law. The judiciary must ensure that tax proceedings are conducted lawfully, non-arbitrarily, and in accordance with principles of natural justice. The state's duty extends to ensuring that tax demands and assessments follow procedural fairness and that the citizen's right to carry on business (Article 19(1)(g)) is not unreasonably restricted.

VI. Priority Rules Applied (Deterministic Decision Tree)

RULE 1 — No Physical Injury → Standard Priority: Article 21 (right to life) is not directly engaged through physical harm. Priority is determined by other factors. RULE 2 — High Vulnerability → Elevated Priority (Doctrine of Parens Patriae): The state has a special duty to protect vulnerable persons. Articles 15, 39, and 39A require the court to ensure that vulnerable litigants are not disadvantaged by delay. RULE 3 — Power Imbalance → Ensure Level Playing Field (Article 14): A significant power imbalance between parties triggers Article 14's equality guarantee. The court must take active measures to prevent the influential party from exploiting its position. RULE 4 — Regulatory/Commercial Matter → Property & Economic Rights: Articles 14, 19(1)(g), and 300A govern this matter. Priority is based on economic impact and procedural fairness concerns, not life-and-liberty urgency. FINAL DETERMINATION: Based on the above constitutional rules and the extracted case features, the priority assigned is Medium. This determination represents the impartial state's assessment of the urgency required to ensure that constitutional rights are protected and justice is delivered without undue delay.

Tax and excise matters involve statutory interpretation, procedural compliance, and economic regulation. They do not typically engage the right to life under Article 21. These cases should be processed according to their legal complexity and the amount involved, but do not warrant the highest priority unless they involve personal liberty or criminal sanctions.

VII. State's Perspective & Public Interest Analysis

STATE'S CONSTITUTIONAL ASSESSMENT (Neutral, Unbiased Analysis from the Perspective of the Judiciary) This assessment is prepared from the standpoint of an impartial state adjudicating disputes under the Constitution of India. The analysis identifies the constitutional rights engaged, the state's corresponding duties, and the appropriate priority that a fair and unbiased judiciary should accord to this matter. ### I. SUBJECT MATTER Parties: Nisha Rao, Meera, Arun Legal Category: Excise/Tax Brief Description: Nisha Rao, the mother, reported that her daughter Meera was last seen near the play area at 6:18 PM. Meera was not found and Nisha called for help. Arun, a person of interest, claims he did not take the child. The case involves a missing child, potential criminal activity, and the right to life and personal liberty under Article 21 of the Indian Constitution.

Extracted Parameters: Severity = No Injury, Vulnerability = High, Influence/ Power Imbalance = High ### II. CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS ENGAGED The following constitutional provisions are relevant to this matter: - *[PRIMARY] Article 265 — Tax Not to be Imposed Save by Authority of Law: No tax shall be levied or collected except by authority of law. - Key principles: No taxation without law, Lawful authority for tax levy, Procedural fairness in tax matters - *[PRIMARY] Article 14 — Equality Before Law: The State shall not deny to any person equality before the law or the equal protection of the laws within the territory of India. - Key principles: Equality before law, Equal protection of laws, Reasonable classification is permitted, Anti-arbitrariness - *[PRIMARY] Article 19(1)(g) — Right to Practise Any Profession or Carry On Occupation, Trade or Business: All citizens shall have the right to practise any profession, or to carry on any occupation, trade or business, subject to reasonable restrictions in the interests of the general public. - Key principles: Right to trade, occupation and profession, Reasonable restrictions in public interest, Licensing and regulatory controls - *[SECONDARY] Article 300A — Right to Property: No person shall be deprived of his property save by authority of law. - Key principles: Protection against deprivation of property, Lawful procedure for acquisition, Right not to be dispossessed without legal authority - *[SECONDARY] Article 301 — Freedom of Trade, Commerce and Intercourse: Subject to the other provisions of this Part, trade, commerce and intercourse throughout the territory of India shall be free. - Key principles: Free trade and commerce across India, No barriers to inter-state trade - *[SECONDARY] Article 21 — Protection of Life and Personal Liberty: No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. - Key principles: Right to life includes right to live with dignity, Right to a speedy trial, Right to health and medical care, Right to fair procedure, Right to safety and security, Due process and procedural fairness ### III. SEVERITY & URGENCY ASSESSMENT Primary Article: Article 14 / Article 19 / Article 300A (as applicable) Analysis: Where no physical injury is involved, the primary constitutional concern shifts from Article 21 (life and liberty) to other guarantees such as Article 14 (equality), Article 19 (freedom of profession/trade), and Article 300A (property). While these rights are fundamental and must be protected, the urgency is generally lower than cases involving threats to life or physical safety. Urgency Classification: Standard — rights are engaged but no immediate physical harm. ### IV. STATE'S DUTY UNDER THE CONSTITUTION Under Article 265, the State cannot levy or collect tax without the authority of law. The judiciary must ensure that tax proceedings are conducted lawfully, non-arbitrarily, and in accordance with principles of natural justice. The state's duty extends to ensuring that tax demands and assessments follow procedural fairness and that the citizen's right to carry on business (Article 19(1)(g)) is not unreasonably restricted. ### V. VULNERABILITY & POWER BALANCE ASSESSMENT Vulnerability Level: High This indicates: ['Minors / Children', 'Pregnant Women', 'Elderly / Senior Citizens', 'Disabled Persons', 'Scheduled Castes (SC)', 'Scheduled Tribes (ST)', 'Other Backward Classes (OBC)', 'Adivasis / Tribals', 'Dalits', 'Economically Weaker

Sections (EWS)', 'Below Poverty Line (BPL)', 'Daily Wage Workers', 'Agricultural Labourers', 'Domestic Workers', 'Migrant Workers', 'Unorganised Sector Workers', 'Bonded Labourers', 'Sex Workers', 'Human Trafficking Survivors', 'Refugees / Asylum Seekers', 'Homeless Persons', 'Orphans', 'Single Mothers / Widows', 'Persons in Custody', 'Victims of Domestic Violence', 'Victims of Sexual Assault', 'Victims of Torture'] Constitutional Protection: Articles 14, 15, 15(3), 15(4), 15(5), 16(4), 17, 23, 24, 39, 39A, 41, 46, and the Directive Principles under Part IV mandate special protection for vulnerable groups. The Doctrine of Parens Patriae obligates the state to act as guardian for those who cannot protect themselves. Judicial Duty: The court must adopt a protective, sensitised approach. Vulnerable litigants are entitled to: (a) in-camera proceedings where appropriate, (b) assistance of counsel if unrepresented, (c) protection from intimidation, (d) expedited hearings to prevent secondary trauma, and (e) rehabilitation and compensation directions where applicable. Influence Level: High Government bodies, large corporations, regulatory authorities, or politically powerful individuals Constitutional Concern: Article 14 requires equality before law. A significant power imbalance can undermine the fairness of proceedings if the influential party is able to use its resources to delay, intimidate, or out-litigate the weaker party. The court must actively ensure a level playing field. Recommended Countermeasure: Where there is a power imbalance, the court should: (a) ensure the weaker party has access to legal aid if needed, (b) prevent unnecessary adjournments sought by the influential party, (c) expedite proceedings to minimise the risk of witness tampering or intimidation, and (d) consider appointing a court monitor or receiver where appropriate. ### VI. APPLICABLE CONSTITUTIONAL DOCTRINES & PRINCIPLES - Doctrine of Proportionality: Any state action restricting rights must be proportionate to the aim sought — it must be necessary, suitable, and not excessive. - Application to this case: Used to assess whether the priority assigned is proportionate to the gravity of the rights violation. - Principle of Natural Justice — Audi Alteram Partem: No person shall be condemned without being heard. The right to be heard is a fundamental principle of justice. - Application to this case: Ensures procedural fairness in administrative and quasi-judicial proceedings. - Rule of Law: Every person, including the State, is subject to the law; no one is above it. Government action must have legal authority. - Application to this case: Foundational principle engaged in every challenge to executive or legislative action. - Doctrine of Reasonable Classification: Article 14 permits classification of persons if it is based on intelligible differentia having a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved. - Application to this case: Used to test whether differential treatment of litigants or groups is constitutional. ### VII. PRIORITY ASSESSMENT & JUSTIFICATION Assigned Priority: Medium Category Rationale: Tax and excise matters involve statutory interpretation, procedural compliance, and economic regulation. They do not typically engage the right to life under Article 21. These cases should be processed according to their legal complexity and the amount involved, but do not warrant the highest priority unless they involve personal liberty or criminal sanctions. ### VIII. FINAL

OBSERVATION From the perspective of an unbiased state adjudicating under the Constitution of India, this matter has been assigned Medium Priority. The case presents meaningful legal or constitutional issues that warrant attentive but not extraordinary expedition. The court should monitor the progress of this matter to ensure it does not languish, while recognising that cases involving imminent threats to life or liberty must take precedence.

VIII. Doctrines Engaged & Constitutional Jurisprudence

Doctrine of Proportionality — Any state action restricting rights must be proportionate to the aim sought — it must be necessary, suitable, and not excessive.

Principle of Natural Justice — Audi Alteram Partem — No person shall be condemned without being heard. The right to be heard is a fundamental principle of justice.

Rule of Law — Every person, including the State, is subject to the law; no one is above it. Government action must have legal authority.

Doctrine of Reasonable Classification — Article 14 permits classification of persons if it is based on intelligible differentia having a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved.

IX. Rights Balancing Analysis & Proportionality Test

Primary Interest — Other Constitutional Rights: With severity 'No Injury', the primary constitutional concern shifts from the right to life (Article 21) to other guarantees such as equality (Article 14), freedom of trade (Article 19(1)(g)), or property rights (Article 300A) as applicable. While these rights are fundamental, they permit greater flexibility in prioritisation. Vulnerability Analysis — Special State Obligation: A vulnerable party is involved. The Doctrine of Parens Patriae and Articles 15(3), 15(4), 39, and 39A impose a heightened duty on the state to protect the vulnerable. This factor strongly supports elevated priority to prevent further harm or injustice. Power Imbalance — Article 14 Equality Concern: There is a significant power imbalance between the parties. Article 14 requires the state to ensure equality before the law. Where one party is a government body, large corporation, or influential entity, the court must guard against the risk that institutional power could subvert the fairness of proceedings. The assigned priority adequately accounts for this concern. Category-Specific Analysis — Excise/Tax: This is primarily a regulatory/commercial matter. While Article 14 equality and Article 300A property rights are engaged, the case does not involve the same constitutional urgency as life-and-liberty cases. The assigned priority appropriately reflects this proportionally.

X. Landmark Precedents on Systemic Delay & Human/Economic Toll

Innoventive Industries (2018) & Swiss Ribbons (2019) (2018) 1 SCC 407 / (2019) 4 SCC 17

Cost of Delay: Destruction of Enterprise Value & Millions in Bad Debt · Decade-Long SICA & High Court Winding-Up Litigations

Factual Delay: Prior to modern insolvency triage, corporate winding-up petitions and debt recovery suits dragged in courts for 10 to 15 years on average. Debtor promoters exploited procedural stays while factories rusted and books were cooked.

Toll / Consequence: Complete destruction of going-concern value: thousands of workers lost employment, public sector banks wrote off hundreds of thousands of crores in public funds, and viable companies were turned into scrap metal.

Judicial Ruling: Justice Nariman underscored that 'Time is of the essence in commercial disputes. Delay leads to enterprise death.' The Supreme Court affirmed that delayed judicial intervention destroys the asset base and punishes honest creditors.

Demonstrates why major economic fraud, insolvency, and corporate disputes cannot be deferred: while courts deliberate, fraudulent assets are siphoned, bank accounts are emptied, and workers' livelihoods are permanently obliterated.

Union Carbide Corporation v. Union of India (1989) 1 SCC 674; AIR 1990 SC 273

Cost of Delay: Decades of Impoverishment & Mass Human Suffering · Decades of Procedural & Evidentiary Skirmishes

Factual Delay: Procedural battles over jurisdiction, discovery, and interlocutory appeals delayed liability adjudication and interim compensation while toxic gas survivors died without access to basic medical care or clean water.

Toll / Consequence: Over 15,000 dead, over 500,000 permanently debilitated; entire communities forced into intergenerational debt and destitution while corporate defendants tied the courts up in endless legal technicalities.

Judicial Ruling: The Supreme Court recognized that conventional judicial delays in mass torts and corporate negligence compound the tragedy, forcing the Court to devise innovative procedural mechanisms to prevent total social catastrophe.

Shows that cases involving broad public harm, toxic liability, or commercial exploitation demand timely priority before the injured parties are financially starved out of their legal remedies.

Tukaram Kana Joshi v. MIDC (2013) 1 SCC 353; AIR 2013 SC 565

Cost of Delay: Generational Land Dispossession & Destitution · 35 Years to Adjudicate Land Compensation

Factual Delay: Illiterate farmers' agricultural lands were taken by the state for industrial development in 1964. For over 35 years, no formal award was passed, and the state repeatedly told the impoverished owners that their claims were 'under process'.

Toll / Consequence: Families that owned valuable ancestral land were reduced to poverty-stricken day laborers while high-value industrial parks flourished on their property without a single rupee paid in compensation.

Judicial Ruling: The Supreme Court rebuked the state, holding that Article 300A right to property is a human right. The Court ruled that the state cannot acquire property, delay compensation for decades, and then plead procedural delay.

Mandates timely priority for property and land disputes: delayed adjudication of title or compensation allows the stronger party to exploit possession while the rightful claimant is bled dry by court expenses.

STATUTORY DISCLAIMER & JUDICIAL ADVISORY NOTICE: This document is an automated evidentiary intake and priority evaluation compiled by the Anavaya Judicial Intelligence System solely for court calendar scheduling and triage assistance under the Constitution of India. It does not constitute substantive legal advice, an interim injunction, or a final judicial decree. The sovereign authority to determine admissibility, trial sequence, and judicial relief resides exclusively with the Presiding Judge and the competent bench.