EVIDENCE 06: INTERVIEW RECORDS

Fictional interview excerpts for courtroom role-play

Case reference: FIC-MC-017/2026 | Fictional training scenario | Not real evidence

Interview A: Nisha Rao, mother / reporting person

“I last saw Meera near the play area at about 6:18 PM. I looked away briefly, then could not find her. I searched nearby and called for help.”

Interview B: Arun, person of interest in the skit

“I was near the service road, but I did not take the child. I do not know where she went.”

Interview C: shop employee

“I heard voices outside, but I cannot say who was speaking or what was said.”

Affect observation format

Record only visible or audible behaviour, for example: “paused for about three seconds before answering,” “voice volume increased,” or “looked toward the interviewer.” Avoid conclusions such as “lying,” “guilty,” “deceptive,” or “truthful.”

Fairness and procedure

- Interviews must be lawful, voluntary where required, and conducted with appropriate safeguards.
- Questions should be neutral and non-leading.
- Any apparent inconsistency should be checked against time, memory, wording, and independent evidence.
- AI-generated affect notes must never be treated as a lie detector or guilt score.
