I. Factual Dispute Synopsis (What the Dispute Is About)

Meera Rao, a 9-year-old child, was reported missing from Lakeview Community Park on September 28, 2026. Her mother, Nisha Rao, reported her last seen near the play area at 18:18. The police were notified at 18:24 and an FIR was recorded. The case is supported by 7 corroborating records on file (CCTV/traffic surveillance logs, audio records, witness statements, interview records), establishing the investigative timeline and witness corroboration. On the merged evidence the matter is classified as Criminal/ Violent (violent case type). Names appearing across the documents: Meera Rao, Nisha Rao, Meera, Unknown Person in a Yellow Shirt, Shop Employee.

II. Litigating Parties Across Whole Case

Meera Rao, Nisha Rao, Meera, Unknown Person in a Yellow Shirt, Unknown parties involved in a fictional scenario, Child, Adult, Shop Employee, Security Guard, Balloon Vendor, Suspect, Arun, Party A, Party B, Mira

III. Comprehensive Whole-Case Factual Narrative

This case file brings together 8 documents (FIR, 7 × Other) and is assessed as a single matter of Constitutional/Writ with major injury indicated, involving vulnerable parties.

The evidence on record consists of “Evidence_01_Incident_Report_and_Timeline.pdf” (FIR; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_02_CCTV_Review_Log.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_03_Shop_Audio_Transcript_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; General Civil; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_04_Witness_Statements_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_05_Traffic_Camera_Note.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_06_Interview_Records_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; Excise/Tax; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_08_Evidence_Register_and_Corroboration.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “State_3930_transcript.pdf” (Other; Property/Land; Major severity; assessed High priority). Cross-comparison finds 7 corroborating links between the documents (shared dates, places or parties), which strengthens the consistency of the record. For example, “Evidence_01_Incident_Report_and_Timeline.pdf” and “Evidence_06_Interview_Records_SIMULATED.pdf” share parties. “Evidence_03_Shop_Audio_Transcript_SIMULATED.pdf”, “Evidence_04_Witness_Statements_SIMULATED.pdf”, “Evidence_08_Evidence_Register_and_Corroboration.pdf” currently stand alone — no other document shares a date, place or party with them, so further supporting evidence would strengthen the case.

IX. Statutory Duty & Judicial Obligation Analysis

The State has a non-derogable duty under Article 21 to protect the right to life and personal liberty of every person. In violent crimes, the judiciary must ensure: (a) immediate protection of the victim and witnesses, (b) preservation of evidence, (c) expeditious trial to prevent secondary victimisation, and (d) enforcement of the victim's right to a speedy trial as an integral part of Article 21.

X. Deterministic CART Decision Tree Rules Applied

RULE 1 — Major Injury → High Priority (Article 21): Bodily integrity and the right to health under Article 21 are seriously compromised. Strong urgency is constitutionally required. RULE 2 — High Vulnerability → Elevated Priority (Doctrine of Parens Patriae): The state has a special duty to protect vulnerable persons. Articles 15, 39, and 39A require the court to ensure that vulnerable litigants are not disadvantaged by delay. RULE 3 — Power Imbalance → Ensure Level Playing Field (Article 14): A significant power imbalance between parties triggers Article 14's equality guarantee. The court must take active measures to prevent the influential party from exploiting its position. RULE 4 — Violent Crime → Article 21 Primacy: Criminal matters involving violence directly implicate the right to life and personal liberty. The state's duty under Article 21 requires urgent judicial attention. FINAL DETERMINATION: Based on the above constitutional rules and the extracted case features, the priority assigned is High. This determination represents the impartial state's assessment of the urgency required to ensure that constitutional rights are protected and justice is delivered without undue delay.

XI. Sovereign State Perspective & Public Interest Analysis

STATE'S CONSTITUTIONAL ASSESSMENT (Neutral, Unbiased Analysis from the Perspective of the Judiciary) This assessment is prepared from the standpoint of an impartial state adjudicating disputes under the Constitution of India. The analysis identifies the constitutional rights engaged, the state's corresponding duties, and the appropriate priority that a fair and unbiased judiciary should accord to this matter. ### I. SUBJECT MATTER Parties: Meera Rao, Nisha Rao, Meera, Unknown Person in a Yellow Shirt, Unknown parties involved in a fictional scenario, Child, Adult, Shop Employee, Security Guard, Balloon Vendor, Suspect, Arun, Party A, Party B, Mira Legal Category: Criminal/Violent Brief Description: This case file brings together 8 documents (FIR, 7 × Other) and is assessed as a single matter of Constitutional/Writ with major injury indicated, involving vulnerable parties. The evidence on record consists of “Evidence_01_Incident_Report_and_Timeline.pdf” (FIR; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_02_CCTV_Review_Log.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_03_Shop_Audio_Transcript_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; General Civil; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_04_Witness_Statements_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_05_Traffic_Camera_Note.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_06_Interview_Records_SIMULATED.pdf” (Other; Excise/Tax; assessed Medium priority); “Evidence_08_Evidence_Register_and_Corroboration.pdf” (Other; Constitutional/Writ; assessed Medium priority); “State_3930_transcript.pdf” (Other; Property/Land; Major severity; assessed High priority). Cross-comparison finds 7 corroborating links between the documents (shared dates, places or parties), which strengthens the consistency of the record. For example, “Evidence_01_Incident_Report_and_Timeline.pdf” and “Evidence_06_Interview_Records_SIMULATED.pdf” share parties. “Evidence_03_Shop_Audio_Transcript_SIMULATED.pdf”, “Evidence_04_Witness_Statements_SIMULATED.pdf”, “Evidence_08_Evidence_Register_and_Corroboration.pdf” currently stand alone — no other document shares a date, place or party with them, so further supporting evidence would strengthen the case. Extracted Parameters: Severity = Major, Vulnerability = High,

Influence/ Power Imbalance — High ### II. CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS ENGAGED The following constitutional provisions are relevant to this matter: - *[PRIMARY] Article 21 — Protection of Life and Personal Liberty: No person shall be deprived of his life or personal liberty except according to procedure established by law. - Key principles: Right to life includes right to live with dignity, Right to a speedy trial, Right to health and medical care, Right to fair procedure, Right to safety and security, Due process and procedural fairness - *[PRIMARY] Article 22 — Protection Against Arrest and Detention: No person who is arrested shall be detained in custody without being informed of the grounds of arrest, nor shall he be denied the right to consult and be defended by a legal practitioner of his choice. No person shall be prosecuted and punished for the same offence more than once. No person accused of any offence shall be compelled to be a witness against himself. - Key principles: No ex post facto criminal law, No double jeopardy, Protection against self-incrimination - *[SECONDARY] Article 14 — Equality Before Law: The State shall not deny to any person equality before the law or the equal protection of the laws within the territory of India. - Key principles: Equality before law, Equal protection of laws, Reasonable classification is permitted, Anti-arbitrariness - *[SECONDARY] Article 17 — Abolition of Untouchability: Untouchability is abolished and its practice in any form is forbidden. The enforcement of any disability arising out of untouchability shall be an offence punishable in accordance with law. - Key principles: Abolition of untouchability, Enforcement of disabilities is an offence, Protection of SC/ST communities - *[SECONDARY] Article 23 — Prohibition of Traffic in Human Beings and Forced Labour: Traffic in human beings and begar and other similar forms of forced labour are prohibited. Any contravention of this provision shall be an offence punishable in accordance with law. - Key principles: Prohibition of human trafficking, Prohibition of forced labour and begar - *[SECONDARY] Article 24 — Prohibition of Employment of Children in Factories: No child below the age of fourteen years shall be employed to work in any factory or mine or engaged in any other hazardous employment. - Key principles: No child labour below 14 in hazardous work, Protection of children from exploitation - *[SECONDARY] Article 39A — Equal Justice and Free Legal Aid: The State shall secure that the operation of the legal system promotes justice on a basis of equal opportunity, and shall provide free legal aid to ensure that no citizen is denied opportunities to secure justice due to economic or other disability. - Key principles: Free legal aid, Equal opportunity in the legal system, Justice for the economically disadvantaged ### III. SEVERITY & URGENCY ASSESSMENT Primary Article: Article 21 Analysis: The right to life under Article 21 includes the right to live with dignity and the right to health. Major injuries — especially those requiring hospitalisation, causing permanent disability, or posing life-threatening complications constitute a serious interference with personal liberty and bodily integrity. The State must ensure prompt access to medical care, investigation of the incident, and accountability. Each day of delay risks permanent aggravation of the harm. Urgency Classification: High — bodily integrity and dignity are seriously compromised. ### IV. STATE'S DUTY UNDER THE CONSTITUTION The State has a non-derogable duty under Article 21 to protect the right to life and personal liberty of every person. In violent crimes, the judiciary must ensure: (a) immediate protection of the victim and witnesses, (b) preservation of evidence, (c) expeditious trial to prevent secondary victimisation, and (d) enforcement of the victim's right to a speedy trial as an integral part of Article 21. ### V. VULNERABILITY & POWER BALANCE ASSESSMENT Vulnerability Level: High This indicates: ['Minors / Children', 'Pregnant Women', 'Elderly / Senior Citizens', 'Disabled Persons', 'Scheduled Castes (SC)', 'Scheduled Tribes (ST)', 'Other Backward Classes (OBC)', 'Adivasis / Tribals', 'Dalits', 'Economically Weaker Sections (EWS)', 'Below Poverty Line (BPL)', 'Daily Wage Workers', 'Agricultural Labourers', 'Domestic Workers', 'Migrant Workers', 'Unorganised Sector Workers', 'Bonded Labourers', 'Sex Workers', 'Human Trafficking Survivors', 'Refugees / Asylum Seekers', 'Homeless Persons', 'Orphans', 'Single Mothers / Widows', 'Persons in Custody', 'Victims of Domestic Violence', 'Victims of Sexual Assault', 'Victims of Torture'] Constitutional Protection: Articles 14, 15, 15(3), 15(4), 15(5), 16(4), 17, 23, 24, 39, 39A, 41, 46, and the Directive Principles under Part IV mandate special protection for vulnerable groups. The Doctrine of Parens Patriae obligates the state to act as guardian for those who cannot protect themselves. Judicial Duty: The court must adopt a protective, sensitised approach. Vulnerable litigants are entitled to: (a) in-camera proceedings where appropriate, (b) assistance of counsel if unrepresented, (c) protection from intimidation, (d) expedited hearings to prevent secondary trauma, and (e) rehabilitation and compensation directions where applicable. Influence Level: High Government bodies, large corporations, regulatory authorities, or politically powerful individuals Constitutional Concern: Article 14 requires equality before law. A significant power imbalance can undermine the fairness of proceedings if the influential party is able to use its resources to delay, intimidate, or out-litigate the weaker party. The court must actively ensure a level playing field. Recommended Countermeasure: Where there is a power imbalance, the court should: (a) ensure the weaker party has access to legal aid if needed, (b) prevent unnecessary adjournments sought by the influential party, (c) expedite proceedings to minimise the risk of witness tampering or intimidation, and (d) consider appointing a court monitor or receiver where appropriate. ### VI. APPLICABLE CONSTITUTIONAL DOCTRINES & PRINCIPLES - Doctrine of Proportionality: Any state action restricting rights must be proportionate to the aim sought — it must be necessary, suitable, and not excessive. - Application to this case: Used to assess whether the priority assigned is proportionate to the gravity of the rights violation. - Doctrine of Parens Patriae: The state has a duty to protect those who cannot protect themselves, such as minors, disabled persons, and the mentally ill. -

Application to this case: Critical for cases involving vulnerable victims — the state must act as guardian. - Rule of Law: Every person, including the State, is subject to the law; no one is above it. Government action must have legal authority. - Application to this case: Foundational principle engaged in every challenge to executive or legislative action. ### VII. PRIORITY ASSESSMENT & JUSTIFICATION Assigned Priority: High Category Rationale: Cases involving violent crime directly implicate the most fundamental right under the Constitution — the right to life. The state's failure to accord such cases the highest priority would constitute a violation of its affirmative obligation under Article 21 to protect life and ensure access to justice. ### VIII. FINAL OBSERVATION From the perspective of an unbiased state adjudicating under the Constitution of India, this matter has been assigned High Priority. This is constitutionally appropriate and reflects the gravity of the rights engaged. The court is directed to list this matter expeditiously, ensuring that no procedural delay undermines the constitutional rights at stake. The State must accord this case the attention and resources commensurate with its priority level.

XII. Fundamental Rights Balancing & Proportionality Test

Primary Interest — Right to Life & Bodily Integrity (Article 21): The severity level 'Major' indicates that the right to life or physical integrity has been seriously compromised. Under Article 21, this is the weightiest constitutional interest and must take precedence over all other considerations. The state's duty to protect life is non-derogable and non-delegable. Assessment: The High priority correctly reflects the primacy of Article 21 rights. This is constitutionally appropriate and proportionate to the gravity of the harm. Vulnerability Analysis — Special State Obligation: A vulnerable party is involved. The Doctrine of Parens Patriae and Articles 15(3), 15(4), 39, and 39A impose a heightened duty on the state to protect the vulnerable. This factor strongly supports High priority to prevent further harm or injustice. Power Imbalance — Article 14 Equality Concern: There is a significant power imbalance between the parties. Article 14 requires the state to ensure equality before the law. Where one party is a government body, large corporation, or influential entity, the court must guard against the risk that institutional power could subvert the fairness of proceedings. The assigned priority adequately accounts for this concern. Category-Specific Analysis — Criminal/Violent: This category involves the most serious engagement of constitutional rights — the right to life, liberty, and safety of persons. The High priority assigned is constitutionally mandated.

XIII. Landmark Precedents on Systemic Delay & Human/Economic Toll

Bachpan Bachao Andolan v. Union of India (2011) 5 SCC 1 / (2013) 5 SCC 1

Cost of Delay: Irreversible Child Trafficking & Loss of Missing Children · Systemic

Inaction on Missing Children Reports

Factual Delay: Over 100,000 children were going missing annually across India without formal FIR registration or investigation. Police routinely treated child disappearance as runaway cases, waiting days or weeks while children were trafficked, forced into child labour, or subjected to sexual exploitation.

Toll / Consequence: Catastrophic human toll: thousands of children were permanently lost to their families, forced into illegal organ trade, bonded labour, or commercial sexual exploitation simply because initial hours and days were lost to administrative inaction.

Judicial Ruling: The Supreme Court issued mandatory constitutional directions under Article 21 and Article 39(f): whenever a child goes missing, an FIR under Section 363 IPC (kidnapping) MUST be registered immediately with a presumption of trafficking. The Court ruled that time is of the essence and missing child matters demand the highest judicial and police urgency.

Establishes that cases involving missing children, child safety, kidnapping, or abduction must receive immediate Top-tier High Priority triage: every hour of procedural delay permanently endangers a child's life and liberty.

Hussainara Khatoon & Ors. v. Home Secretary, State of Bihar (1980) 1 SCC 81; AIR 1979 SC 1360

Cost of Delay: Thousands of Lives Extinguished in Prison · Decades of Undertrial Incarceration

Factual Delay: A series of investigative reports uncovered thousands of impoverished undertrials who had been kept in detention for 5 to 12 years awaiting trial — periods far exceeding the maximum statutory prison terms they could have received even if convicted.

Toll / Consequence: Mass destruction of human potential: thousands of citizens died, lost sanity, or contracted chronic illnesses behind bars simply because court dockets were backlogged and their cases were never listed for hearing.

Judicial Ruling: Justice Bhagwati held that the Right to a Speedy Trial is an integral fundamental right under Article 21. The Court ruled that an overburdened judicial system has a constitutional obligation to triage and release those whose trials are unreasonably delayed.

Affirms why criminal matters and fundamental liberty deprivations demand top-tier prioritization: allowing a matter touching liberty to drift in the queue turns the justice system into an engine of punishment without guilt.

Rudal Sah v. State of Bihar (1983) 4 SCC 141; AIR 1983 SC 1086

Cost of Delay: Loss of Human Liberty & 14 Years of Life · 14 Years Post-Acquittal Custody

Factual Delay: The petitioner was formally acquitted of criminal charges by the Sessions Court in 1968, yet remained languishing in prison for an additional 14 years due to bureaucratic ignorance, procedural inertia, and the trial court's failure to audit release warrants.

Toll / Consequence: An innocent man was robbed of 14 prime years of his life, youth, family ties, and sanity. By the time the Supreme Court intervened via habeas corpus, the petitioner was physically and psychologically devastated.

Judicial Ruling: Chief Justice Y.V. Chandrachud pioneered constitutional tort damages under Article 32, ruling that the State cannot plead procedural administrative backlog when Article 21 personal liberty is annihilated. The Court ordered exemplary monetary compensation.

Mandates immediate High Priority triage for cases involving detention, liberty, or severe physical harm: procedural ignorance in liberty matters cannot be undone, and post-facto compensation can never restore stolen years.
